Peninsula Bay provides new access to the water for both future and current County residents with a mixed-use marina village, boat ramp, and a new 67-acre lake that could host kayaks, paddleboards, and small sailboats. The open space network is a complex web of interstitial green strands, grand waterfront views, and preserved natural features including nearly 70 acres of mangroves. Combining the laid-back atmosphere of a nearby historic fishing village with the best in national design expertise, Peninsula Bay will be a unique retreat for residents and visitors.
